

FAIRFIELD JOINT BOARD EMPLOYS FOUR TEACHERS

The Fairfield Joint school board at a regular meeting held in the schoolhouse at Fairfield Friday night, voted to employ four new teachers for its high school program, set the date for the registration of new pupils in the jointure, and in conjunction with the bus drivers worked out a new transportation schedule.

Mrs. Dorothy Newman, Fairfield, a graduate of Indiana State Teachers college and former teacher in the Waynesboro schools, was elected part-time home economics teacher.

Mrs. Dorothy Rummel Barley, Gettysburg, was elected music teacher on a three-day-a-week basis in place of Mrs. Dorothy Thomas, Biglerville R. D., music teacher for several years in the district and Franklin township schools. Mrs. Thomas resigned her Fairfield position but retains her Franklin township connection. Mrs. Barley had been substituting for Mrs. Thomas the last three months of the past school year.

To Install Bus Signs

The board elected Charles Rogers, Gettysburg, director of the Blue and Gray band, as instructor in instrumental music and as band leader. The school system will organize a band this fall under Mr. Rogers' direction.

Announcement was made of the election at a previous meeting of Harry Miller, Fairfield, formerly of Takoma Park, Md., and a graduate of the University of Maryland, as vocational agriculture teacher. He is a war veteran.

The board voted to install bus stop signs throughout the district, thus becoming one of the first school districts in Adams county to take this action. About 200 signs will be placed.

Contract was entered into with David Sanders, Fairfield R. D., to transport children who formerly attended the Cold Springs school to Fairfield and Orrtanna. The Cold Springs school has been closed.

To Register Thursday

All pupils who have moved into the Fairfield district and will attend grades one through nine this fall for the first time will register at the schoolhouse in Fairfield Thursday, from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m., George Inskip, principal, announced.

A teacher of mathematics in the new high school setup will be elected at a later meeting, the latter said. Subsequent announcement will be made of assignment of pupils to various schools.

Mr. Inskip reported that the new building program was progressing, and said that both the interior and exterior of the grade school building at Fairfield have been painted and inside toilets are being installed at Orrtanna.

Change Defendant In Damage Suit

The law firm of Swope, Brown and Swope today filed in the office of the prothonotary notice of an action in trespass against John A. Dice, brought by Donald Hershey, Cashtown.

The paper substitutes the name of Dice for R. E. Strouss, named defendant in the action in a paper filed earlier this week.

The attorneys for the plaintiff said Hershey was seeking damages growing out of an automobile accident involving his car, driven by his son, Jay, and a station wagon owned by the Piney Mountain Inn.

Strouss was made defendant in the early paper because he was manager of the inn, attorneys said. Later it was learned that Dice was the actual owner. An employee of the inn was driving the station wagon.

Parked Auto On York Street Hit

An automobile operated by Simon F. Kuhn, Gettysburg R. 5, ran into the car of Edward A. Culp, parked in front of the latter's home, 357 York street, at 3:30 o'clock this morning, according to a borough police report.

The right front of Kuhn's car struck the left rear fender of the Culp automobile. Damage to the latter was estimated at $95, while Kuhn's damage was placed at $75.

3 Countians Join National Guard

Edward Augustus Hung, Jr., 31, Gettysburg R. 2, has enlisted in the 728th Ordnance Maintenance company of the Pennsylvania National Guard at Chambersburg. The unit will enter federal service September 5, Hung, a private first class, with seven years of prior service in the army, is married and father of a son.

Two other Adams county men have also enlisted with the Chambersburg outfit. They include Benjamin N. Shields, 30, of Biglerville R. 1, who had four years of previous service with the army, and David J. Parr, 17, of Orrtanna R. 2.

EXPLAIN PLAN FOR EXCHANGING SESQUI TICKETS

The exchange of Sesqui Queen contest ticket coupons which are now on sale will not begin until 9 o'clock Monday morning, August 28, it was announced today by Sesqui headquarters in connection with an explanation of the plans for the ticket exchange.

The advance sales of ticket coupons for "Freedom's Frontiers" in connection with the Queen contest, which will close August 26, offers buyers a saving of $1 on each strip of three ticket coupons which sell for $2. After the contest closes, tickets will be on sale at regular prices of $1 each for general admission seats. Attached to each of the strips of tickets is a coupon carrying 1,000 votes.

Each of the coupons in the strip of three is worth $1 in exchange for a general admission, reserved or box seat for the historical pageant to be given August 30 and 31 and September 1 and 2 in the Gettysburg college stadium.

Can Order Box Seats Now

The advance coupon must be exchanged for a general admission, reserved or box seat ticket for any pageant performance and the federal tax must be paid at the time of the exchange. This means that if the purchaser wants a general admission seat he will turn in his advance coupon plus 20 cents and will receive a general admission ticket for the night of his choice. If he wishes a seat in reserved sections A, B, C or D, he will turn in his coupon plus 80 cents and receive a reserved seat. For a box seat he will give an advance coupon and $1.40 which includes the federal tax. Children in general admission seats will be 60 cents. If they have an advance coupon, two will be admitted by paying the 20-cent tax.

The ticket exchange will take place at the Sesqui office in the court house or at the ticket office at the college stadium on the nights of the performances. Box seats may be reserved now and are being mailed out as the orders are received.

Littlestown PLAN HILLSIDE CE MEETING

An Adams County Christian Endeavor Union Hillside meeting has been announced for Sunday evening, August 27, at 7:30 o'clock to be held on a hill directly past St. John's Lutheran church, Littlestown. The committee has announced that signs will be posted beginning at St. John's church to direct the way.

The speaker for the evening will be the Rev. Laverne Rohrbach, pastor of the EUB church, Biglerville, and evangelism superintendent of the Southeast Central District of the Pennsylvania Christian Endeavor Union of which Adams county is a part. There will be a devotional program and special music. Following the program, there will be group singing around a campfire and the meeting will close with the forming of a friendship circle. In case of rain, this meeting will be held the following Sunday evening, September 3, at 7:30 o'clock.

This service is being planned through the cooperation of the three Littlestown Christian Endeavor societies: St. Paul's Lutheran church, Miss Alma Reaver, president; Christ Reformed church, Glenn Unger, president; and St. John's Lutheran church, Robert King, president. Robert DeGroot and Miss Helen Myers, Littlestown, are co-chairmen of the program.

Elsie Singmaster Lewars' newest book, "Pennsylvania's Susquehanna," received the following review by Nathan G. Goodman in Sunday's Philadelphia Inquirer:

Pennsylvania has been the scene of practically all the books which Elsie Singmaster, of Gettysburg, has written during the past 40 years. This latest labor is the story of a river, the Susquehanna, which she knows so intimately.

The brief historical data she sets down serves only as a core for the legends and inviting descriptions of the "heart river" of the Commonwealth which are introduced in "Pennsylvania's Susquehanna."

The great beauty of its surrounding hills and mountains, its broad valleys and narrow gorges, its winding railroads and the remains of picturesque canals fill in part of the rich picture.

Miss Singmaster brings into this saga of a river the mountain laurel and the trailing arbutus, the bald eagle and the snowy egret.

Famous names appear from time to time throughout the narrative.

Northumberland, for instance, was the home of Joseph Priestley discoverer of oxygen; and at Sunbury, Thomas Edison set up the first three-wire central-station electric (Please Turn to Page 2)

Used Closed Road: Driver Fined $50

Roger N. Wittler, Gardners, paid a fine of $50 and costs to Justice of the Peace David Mickle, Abbotstown, on a charge of driving his automobile over a highway officially closed to traffic, state police of the Gettysburg substation, who filed the charge, said today. Wittler drove over the Cross Keys road while it was under construction and closed to traffic, police said.

Richard McColl, New Oxford, operator of the Cross Keys drive-in movie theater, paid a fine of $50 and costs to Justice of the Peace Gerald Orrndorf for showing movies on Sunday.

Earl Brymmer, Carlisle, was fined $10 and costs on a charge of failing to yield the right of way, following an accident on July 25. The fine was paid to Justice of the Peace Roy L. Martin, Biglerville. Helmut Oerman, York, paid $10 and costs to Justice of the Peace James Brinton, Hanover R. 3, on a speeding charge.

Paul Dulane, Cashtown, reported Friday the loss of his pocketbook, containing two checks, lodge cards and other papers.

Surprise Allied Landing Deep In Red Territory; UN Troops Check Two Threats

By RELMAN MORIN

Tokyo, Aug. 19 (AP)—A surprise Allied landing deep in Red territory was announced today as North Korean Communists retreated on two fronts—beaten back from their most serious threats to United Nations forces.

At some points the Reds avoided contact entirely with American and South Korean troops. At others their resistance was described as light or moderate.

The Reds fell back before United Nations assaults on the road north from Taegu and in the Changnyong sector to the southwest. Both were danger spots earlier in the week.

House In Log Will Be Displayed Here

A house built within a giant redwood log and hauled by trailer will be on display Tuesday and Wednesday on the southwestern corner of Lincoln Square under the sponsorship of the Gettysburg Lions club.

Known as "Straughan's Redwood Loghouse," the home was hauled out of a tree 14 feet in diameter at the base, 267 feet high and 1900 years old. The log contained 16,500 board feet of lumber. The length of the log which contains three rooms is 33 feet, with the height nine feet four inches.

The walls of this "log house" are from six to eight inches thick plus the bark. Four months were consumed in the removing of the interior from the log, and over one year was required to complete the house.

The house contains a kitchen, living room and bedroom, has been a highly successful exhibit and has been endorsed by many civic organizations including Lions International.

The local Lions will meet Monday evening at 6:30 o'clock at the Mt. Joy parish house.

There are picturesque old covered bridges and modern steel ones; there are inviting camping grounds and recreation areas along and off the river.

Of course, there are smoky industrial cities on its banks that are not wholly lovely, but the traveler can always turn to the miles of the river itself and of its tributaries along which banks for many miles he may meet only deer—or perhaps a bear.

Miss Singmaster, for her part, conveniently deals with five parts of the Susquehanna in as many chapters, giving a little more space to the Main River between Harrisburg and the Maryland border than to the other sections. Adequate space is given the North Branch, the Juniata, and the Main River from Northumberland to Harrisburg.

In only ten brief pages, unfortunately, she traces the story of canals, steamboats and pirates along the river.

The lover of the Susquehanna, as well as the occasional tourist, will be attracted by many tidbits of information in volume. The Pennsylvania Railroad's Rockville Bridge is said to be the longest stone-arch railroad span in the world, and McCall's Ferry is the narrowest part of the main river between Sunbury and the Chesapeake.

The stories of Asylum, a refuge prepared for Marie Antoinette; of the Wyoming massacre of the Peach Bottoms, site of the farthest south ferry in Pennsylvania, are all mentioned.

Throughout her descriptive story, Miss Singmaster cannot refrain from singing about the sheer natural beauty of the river that she knows so well. The green meadows, the mountains split at right angles, the perpendicular cliffs and the deep glens spring into view.

In the spring the river banks, tapestried with bloom in view, in beauty with the bordering forests, painted as brilliantly in the autumn as are any other American forests.

Although "Pennsylvania Susquehanna" is primarily a collection of photographs, the author, nevertheless, offers with deep appreciation a description of what in spots is a magnificent section of the whole of America. There are 150 pictures, of which 50 are excellent full-page reproductions.

BELGIAN RED IS SLAIN IN HOME

Liege, Belgium, Aug. 19 (AP)—Julien Lahaut, head of the Belgian Communist party, was shot to death at his home last night and the official party newspaper charged today pro-Leopoldists were responsible for the assassination.

His wife was a witness to the killing. He was riddled by three bullets fired by one of two gunmen who drove up to the Lahaut home in a Liege suburb about 9:30 p.m.

Mrs. Lahaut said the men, appearing about 20 years old, rang the bell and asked to speak to her husband. "I am Mr. Hendricks," said one. "I want to speak to Mr. Lahaut."

Lahaut, 66-year-old leader of Belgium's estimated 100,000 Communists, came out of the kitchen. One of the gunmen fired three times. Each bullet found its mark and Lahaut fell with two wounds in his head and one in his body. Police said the bullets were fired from either a revolver or a submachinegun.

Lahaut, a veteran member of Parliament, was bitterly anti-Monarchist. He represented industrial Liege, one of the storm centers in the recent strife over the issue of King Leopold's return from exile.

BASEBALL NEARS END OF SEASON AS TEAMS PLAY WEEK-END TILTS

Baseball in this area reached the crucial stage this week-end.

In the Adams county league games this afternoon the contests will decide whether or not the first and fourth places in the standing may end in ties.

With the teams playing the final games on the regular schedule, New Oxford and Hanover are both tied for the top spot with 13 wins and 6 losses each. If both win the tie will continue, but will be broken Tuesday night when the two teams meet at New Oxford to play off a game postponed from July 29. If one team loses today, then it is possible for the two to tie again for the top spot next Tuesday.

The possibility of a tie for fourth place in the Adams county circuit also exists. Orrtanna is playing the Conewago VFW at Arendtsville. The Vets are just one game behind the Orrtanna squad and a victory for Arendtsville today would mean a tie for the fourth honors and a chance at the playoffs.

Penn-Adams Games
Hanover is host to Fairfield and Littlestown travels to New Oxford in the two games in which the Adams league top teams participate.

With two weeks of play still to go in the Penn-Adams league a tie for the top spot in the league standings could develop this Sunday; but the tie would be broken the following week, when the loop leaders, Fairfield and Wewersville, clash at Wewersville.

This Sunday's games in the Penn-Adams will find the first place Wewersville squad at Cashtown; the second place Fairfield nine at Mummasburg and Benderville at Heidlersburg.

The South Penn league has three weeks to go, with Hunterstown and Green Springs both two games back of the loop-leading Greenmount. The contests Sunday in the South Penn include Brunstun at Granite; Green Springs at Bonneauville; Hunterstown at Gettysburg and Greenmount at Barlow.

Penn-Mar Tilt
The Penn-Mar league, in which McSherrystown has established its right to the crown, will continue for two more weeks. This Sunday Blue Ride Summit will be at Littlestown, Thurmont at Westminster, McSherrystown at Hanover and Taneytown at Emmitsburg. The game which was to have been played between McSherrystown and Westminster on August 27, according to the original schedule, will be held instead next Wednesday evening at McSherrystown. The game was moved up to permit McSherrystown to play the West Side Eagles, of Baltimore, August 27.

Four games are scheduled Sunday for the Penn-Maryland league, which still has two weeks of regular play to complete. The circuit-leading Emmitsburg squad will be at Wakefield, Harney at Fairfield, Middleburg at Pen Mar and Sabillasville at Blue Ridge Summit. The Mason-Dixon league completed its schedule Thursday, but one contest still remains on the cards. The league champion Hanover Kiwanis team will meet the Mason-Dixon league All-Stars in an exhibition game to be held at Taneytown at 1:30 p.m. on Labor Day, September 4. Comprising the All-Stars will be three players each from the Littlestown, Hanover Legion, Gettysburg, New Windsor and Taneytown teams.

WILLIAMS ON SQUAD
William "Bill" Williams, Gettysburg high school junior and a half back, is expected to be one of the key men in the 1950 edition of the local high school football squad. Williams' name was inadvertently omitted due to a typographical error in a story concerning the team which appeared in this newspaper Friday.

Among the machine-age gadgets is an attachment for the farm tractor that will dig post-holes.

Eastern League

(By The Associated Press)

The scalped Albany Senators headed home from Hartford for a rest today with memories of the Chiefs' home-run tomahawks.

The Senators dropped their third Eastern league game in a row to the Nutmeggers last night, 7-1. Pitcher Ernie Johnson's five-hit throwing and three Hartford homers told the story.

More trouble is in store for the fifth-place Senators at Albany tomorrow when they face the rough Binghamton Triplets in a double-header.

The cellar-dwelling Scranton Miners rose to the heights in the only other league game last night by topping the first-place Wilkes-Barre Indians, 9-6. The Miners had defeated the Indians the previous night also. Utica at Binghamton and Williamsport at Elmira were rained out.

BIGLER GRIDDERS PLAN TRAINING AT FAIRGROUND

Biglerville high school Friday evening held its first practice for the 1950 football season.

Meeting under the light of the Biglerville field, the 45 candidates for the squad are preparing for a season that will open September 8 at Littlestown, and which may see the loss of the team's coach to the army.

Coach Gene Haas, who mentored the candidates through their practice Friday night, is scheduled to go into the army with the 28th Division, and may be called up in mid-season.

His induction would throw all of the work of handling the squad into the hands of Russ Kane, who has been backfield coach for the Apple Pickers for the past three years, and Hobart Benchoff, the junior high coach.

Veterans Back
Five full time varsity men of last year are back for duty with the squad again this year—Chubb Rice at quarterback; Joe Walde at fullback; End Fred Starry, Tackle Ed Spicer and Guard George Staub.

While the army is expected to take the coach, the team has already lost a guard to the air force. Pay Kapp who was a full time guard last year joined the air force during the summer months.

A tough job ahead for the coaches will be filling the center post vacated by the graduation of Reds Plattenberg. So far Joe Boyer, who played center for the junior varsity last year, looks like the most obvious candidate for the slot.

Three men who saw a lot of varsity play last year are back and possibly will be called on to take more or less permanent possession of the posts they played last year. The three are Johnny Slaybaugh, a tackle last year, Cecil Sandoe, a guard, and Harold Warner, a back.

Jayvee Recruits
Backs Sterling Kint and Larry Lawver, who played on last year's Jayvees, are also counted on to do much to help fill the gaps in the 1950 edition of the Upper Adams team.

The candidates will go into full time training next Wednesday when the whole group moves to the South Mountain Fair Grounds for eight days of intensive drill. Monday and Tuesday nights they are scheduled to practice under the lights, then will come the Fairgrounds conditioning and after that the squad will return to playing under the lights in preparation for its various conflicts.

Interstate League

(By The Associated Press)

The Trenton Giants gained a full game on front-running Wilmington in the Interstate league last night using last-place Sunbury as the springboard.

Hagerstown and Harrisburg, virtually tied for third, and Allentown in fifth, also gained on the leaders. Trenton, now only 6½ games off the pace, cubbed Sunbury pitchers for 17 hits to win 9 to 2. A sparse crowd of 371 watched the contest.

It was the Harrisburg Senators, only one percentage point behind Hagerstown and 8½ games back of Wilmington, that knocked off the leading Blue Rocks. By winning 3-0 Harrisburg ended a five-game losing streak.

Hagerstown swept the finale of a three-game series with Lancaster, shutting out the Red Roses 4-0 as Joe Reardon hung up his 13th victory. Allentown defeated York 7-2 behind the effective hurling of right-hander Bob Gregory who scattered nine hits.

YANKEES AND DODGERS GAIN IN FLAG RACES

BY JACK HAND

(Associated Press Sports Writer)

Can Joe DiMaggio do it again?

The Yankee clipper's dramatic ninth inning home run in Philadelphia last night recalls his stirring deeds of 1949. How he came off the bench, plagued by injuries, to loosen a home run flurry that spurred New York to the American league pennant.

So far DiMaggio has been a bitter disappointment in 1950. So much of a flop that Manager Casey Stengel benched him last week for a "rest." They whispered Joe was washed up. Said he never again could demand $100,000 for a year's salary. Maybe they were wrong.

Restored to his old No. 4 cleanup spot in the batting order last night, DiMaggio responded with a home run that shaded Philadelphia, 3-2. It was his first homer and first run batted in since July 30.

Red Sox Win Another

It was an important win for the Yankees because both Detroit and Cleveland were rained out. As a result New York gained a half game on each and now trail the league-leading Tigers by four games.

Boston reeled off its sixth straight at Fenway park 7-6, after a 10-inning struggle with Washington. Bobby Doerr's 21st homer off Elmer Singleton, leading off the tenth, broke up the game. The Red Sox also gained on the Tigers and Indians. They are six games out of first place.

Brooklyn chewed a full game off the Phillies' lead in the National as that race also tightened. By whipping Boston, 8-3, while New York dumped the Phils, 7-4, the Dodgers moved to within 5½ games of first place.

Jim Hearn Again
Big Jim Hearn, the $10,000 bonus bargain, beat the Phils for the second time within a week. The ex-St. Louis Cardinals' right-hander allowed only five hits including homers by Andy Seminick and Willie Jones.

For the second game of the important series today, the Phils sent Ken Johnson, another ex-Cardinal, against Larry Jensen, the Giants' ace.

Brooklyn, struggling to get back into the thick of things, will send Preacher Roe after Boston, looking for his 17th win. Mickey Haefer, waived out of the American league recently, will make his first start for the Braves.

Red Schoendienst's 11th inning single shoved St. Louis home in front of Cincinnati, 2-1. A throwing error by Grady Hatton set the stage for the winning single.

Pittsburgh staged a four-run first inning to flatten Chicago's Walt Dubiel, 9-3.

Betty Fehl Is New Women's Golf Champ

Reading, Pa., Aug. 19 (AP) — Betty Fehl of the Reading Country club is the new Pennsylvania State Women's Golf association champion.

She took over the title left undefended by Helen Sigel of Philadelphia by defeating Mrs. John Gessler 10 and 9 yesterday in a match scheduled to go 36 miles. Mrs. Gessler represented the Whitemarsh Valley C.C., Philadelphia.

Miss Fehl, five times Central Pennsylvania champion, took a six-up lead at the end of the morning round. They halved the first three holes of the afternoon session.

The Reading representative then put on the pressure. She won the 22nd and 23rd holes with pars and birdied three of the last four holes. Mrs. Gessler won only two of the 27 holes played — the 10th and 12th.

East Berlin

East Berlin—Mrs. Wilson A. Weaver has received word from her sister, Mrs. M. B. Paige, who returned last fall to her home in England after spending some months at the Weaver home, that she and Mr. Paige are preparing to leave for an extended stay in Australia, after which Mrs. Paige expects to visit the Weavers here again.

Mr. and Mrs. George W. Smith have returned from a visit to relatives in Philadelphia, Newark, Del. and Absecon, N. J., leaving motored to that section to accompany home Mrs. Smith's mother and sister, Mrs. J. Guttridge and Miss Beatrice Stoker, Philadelphia, who had been visiting here.

Mr. and Mrs. Hilliard A. ("Dan") Leib, Abbottstown, recently marked their twenty-fifth wedding anniversary. They are the parents of a daughter and a son and have a granddaughter. Mr. Leib has worked as a machinist and repair man on refrigeration in East Berlin for the past five years.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Hansen have come from Hanover to make their home in the tenant house on the property of her relatives, Mr. and Mrs. John Gise, near Heltschwamm.

Mrs. Robert Shaw and daughters, Clara and Anne, have returned after spending two months on a motor trip to California. They brought with them a Japanese girl who is staying at their home until the opening of the National doubles tournament.

General
San Francisco—Earl Osten, Long Beach, Calif., won the National all-distance fly and bait casting championship.

the school she will attend in Boston, Mass. The Shaws spent the past week-end with the husband and father, Major Shaw, stationed at Fort Lee, Va.

A birthday party was given recently in honor of the 48th birthday of John W. Haar, by his wife and children at their R. 2 home with more than 100 persons present. Refreshments were served on the lawn where music was furnished by the string orchestras of Ray Haverstick, New Oxford, and Henry Moorehead, Hanover; and accordion selections were played by a relative, Faye Haar, Dillsburg. As a surprise to Mr. Haar was the arrival in time for the party of his sister, Mrs. James Friel, and daughter, Betty, who came from St. Paul, Minn., to spend a week among local relatives. Mrs. Friel, before marriage, was Miss Beatrice Haar, this section.

Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Rickard and son, Kimball, Va., have been visiting at the home of her sister, Mrs. Ernest Hoak and family.

Donald R. Moul, a veteran of the U. S. Maritime Service during World War II, who has been a stainless steel products salesman in recent years, is preparing to open his new store for the sale of meats and groceries on Tuesday. The establishment has been named "Donnie's Food Market" and will be situated in the property at the square owned by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. George W. Moul, although they will have no part in the operation of the business. The Moul family formerly operated a grocery business there, and when they went later into the clothing business in a nearby building, the grocery building was occupied by the East Brim Meat Market, managed by Mr. and Mrs. Charles Gembe, who have left for Dillsburg some months ago. Donald Moul and his wife expect to reside in the apartment over the newly redecorated store.

Mr. and Mrs. George W. Smith have returned from a visit to relatives in Philadelphia, Newark, Del. and Absecon, N. J., leaving motored to that section to accompany home Mrs. Smith's mother and sister, Mrs. J. Guttridge and Miss Beatrice Stoker, Philadelphia, who had been visiting here.

Mr. and Mrs. Hilliard A. ("Dan") Leib, Abbottstown, recently marked their twenty-fifth wedding anniversary. They are the parents of a daughter and a son and have a granddaughter. Mr. Leib has worked as a machinist and repair man on refrigeration in East Berlin for the past five years.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Hansen have come from Hanover to make their home in the tenant house on the property of her relatives, Mr. and Mrs. John Gise, near Heltschwamm.

Mrs. Robert Shaw and daughters, Clara and Anne, have returned after spending two months on a motor trip to California. They brought with them a Japanese girl who is staying at their home until the opening of the National doubles tournament.

FORTY REPORT FOR DELONE 11 GRID PRACTICE

More than 40 candidates for the Delone Catholic high school Squires turned out for their first drill under the new coach, Philip Yanoschik, Friday.

The Squires will do all of their drilling on the McSherrystown school gridiron and will not go to camp. Morning and afternoon sessions will be held before the start of the school term and after school starts the gridders will drill following each day's school session.

The Squires, who haven't been beaten since Hanover High's Hawks won at the start of the 1948 season, will play 10 games during the coming season, opening a month from today.

Delone will be host to Hanover High's Nighthawks in a night game in McSherrystown on Friday, September 15. First away game for Coach Yanoschik's charges will match them with Gettysburg's Warriors in Gettysburg on September 22.

Add Carson Long
LaSalle Catholic high school of Cumberland, a newcomer to the Delone schedule, will be in McSherrystown on Sunday, October 1. The Squires will meet their first Harrisburg Diocesan opponent in Lancaster on October 6, taking on Lancaster high school.

Carson Long Institute of New Bloomfield, another newcomer to the Delone schedule, will play in McSherrystown on Thursday, October 12, at 8 p.m.

Carlisle high school's Thundering Herd, one of three Southern Pennsylvania Conference teams on Delone's schedule, will be met in Carlisle on Friday, October 20. Then will follow three home games for the Squires.

Three Home Games In Row
St. Matthew's Catholic high school of Conshohocken, regularly one of the strongest teams met by the Squires, will play in McSherrystown on Sunday, October 29. Harrisburg Catholic high school will be there on November 3 for a Friday night game, and Reading Central Catholic will provide the opposition on Sunday, November 12, in McSherrystown.

The Squires wind up their first season under Coach Phil Yanoschik playing York Catholic high school's Crusaders in York on Sunday, November 19.

Sports Roundup

By GAYLE TALBOT

New York, Aug. 19 (AP)—On the night of September 16, four weeks from today, they are going to play in Philadelphia a football game which comes close to being the greatest attraction ever staged on any gridiron.

That admittedly is taking in a lot of turf, and we probably will hear from the bowl promoters about this. The fact that a couple of professional clubs are involved probably will inflame the more virulent old grads who think football begins and ends on the campus.

But if a meeting between the Philadelphia Eagles, champions of the National league, and the Cleveland Browns, who dominated the All-American conference through its too-brief career, isn't the "natural" of the century, then you name it.

Quite A Month
Incidentally, that will be quite a month—September—with two championship outdoor fights, the tennis finals and the annual hysteria attending the closing stages of the pennant races, among other items.

For a one-night stand the game between the two pro giants will command as much coast-to-coast interest as any event on the calendar. Football men have been talking it for months at every fanning session, money has been bet in quantities, and Philadelphia's Municipal Stadium, only slightly smaller than the Grand Canyon, doesn't look big enough.

In a sense it will be much more than just a football game. It will mark the climax to an argument which raged for four years between the supporters of the two money leagues.

It will offer the vindictive National leaguers an opportunity to rub it in on the upstarts who cost them so much money and pain before they were squeezed out of existence, and it will give coach Paul Brown's great Cleveland team the chance it always yearned for—to prove it could wallop anything in the National.

Now that the two mighty teams are in the same league they will, of course, meet each other regularly through the years. But this is the first one, the big test, while the two former league leaders still are at the peak. It should be something to see, and don't step on the bodies.

PLAN ANNUAL REUNION
The 36th annual reunion of the Brehm, Brame, Bream family will be held at Willow Mill park, near Hogestown Saturday beginning at 11 a.m.

The Rev. D. J. Roy Strock, a former missionary to India, will be the principal speaker. Afternoon activities will include sports and recreation.

Harrisburg, Aug. 19 (AP) — The General State authority is pushing its $175,000,000 building program as if there was no Korean war.

Oscar N. Lindahl, GSA executive director, said today any war-created material shortages has still to affect the commonwealth's public works improvements.

"We're going ahead full steam," said Lindahl. "There's nothing in the wind to indicate any slowing up to

TEN YEARS AGO

Legion Drum Corps Won Prize at Reading:

Gettysburg's Sons of the American Legion Drum Corps was awarded fourth prize of $50 in the American Legion convention parade at Reading Saturday.

Parading and drilling in a driving rainstorm that drenched them and before thousands of spectators the local corps was loudly cheered as they moved along the five mile line of march.

Wearing their new uniforms in their first public appearance the 32 Gettysburg musicians won high favor from the judges.

Miss Anne Louise Jennings and Miss Ida Mae Alexander were the two majorettes. The color guard comprised Miss Marjory Pittenbarger, Miss Shirley Larkin and Miss Elsie Dillman.

The local corps was organized in May, 1938, under the supervision of George W. Boehner, chairman of the Sons of the American Legion committee. Staff Sergeant Raymond Strohm is the drill sergeant of the corps.

Lincoln Logs Hotel to Open Friday: Earl Rohrbach, formerly of New Oxford, announces the grand opening on Friday of the Lincoln Logs hotel, situated midway between New Oxford and Gettysburg. Mr. Rohrbach has provided a quaint spot with rustic setting, and he advertises excellent food, together with good beer, liquor and wine.

Maroons Will Camp at Marsh Creek Heights: For the first time in history the Gettysburg high school football candidates will be taken to a pre-season training camp for the coming campaign.

Arrangements have been made by Faculty Manager Gule W. Lefever and Coach George Forney to have about 25 of the hopefuls occupy the cottage of Mrs. Anna Plank at Marsh Creek Heights next week.

Shultz-Hoffman: Miss Verna Hoffman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Hoffman, Gardeners, and Dr. Guy Shultz, son of Mrs. Lizzie Shultz, Carlisle E. 6, were united in marriage Saturday evening at 6 o'clock in a ceremony performed by the Rev. Ezra Funk, Guernsey.

More than 80 friends and relatives witnessed the ceremony in the Ida-ville United Brethren church.

Last Man's Club Plans 2nd Banquet: The second annual banquet of the "Last Man's Club" of the Sergeant William F. Steffy camp of the United Spanish War Veterans camp will be held at Cashtown inn August 23.

Commander John A. Zimmerman said that he expects the entire membership of the club, 23, to be present for the affair.

Earl Ziegler Named to College Faculty: Dr. Henry W. A. Hanson announced that Earl E. Ziegler, Red Lion, formerly of Gettysburg, has been named assistant professor of mathematics at the college for the coming year.

Mr. Ziegler will substitute for Dr. W. Walter Durling, who is serving for the year with the United States Army.

Asper-Kane: Miss Regina Margaret Kane, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Allen Kane, Gettysburg R. 2, and Wayne Willard Asper, son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul F. Asper, Aspers R. D., were united in marriage Tuesday evening at 8:30 o'clock in the rectory of St. Mary's Catholic church at Fairfield. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Father John J. O'Duffy, rector.

The couple was attended by Mr. and Mrs. Edwin McCauslin.

Today's Talk

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

TALENT FOR APPRECIATION
Most of us have a number of talents, and they run in different directions. But there is one that overshadows them all—the talent for appreciation. With this we can build a world of our own, and the more we appreciate the richer we become.

The appreciation that you have for your friend becomes the measurement of his value to you. This applies to everything. Appreciation is the ozone of our vibrant life. Without it we wither like the flower that weeps for water.

Many a great human being has died, not from a disease, but from lack of appreciation. All through the pages of history their names now shine out like stars in the firmament. Edgar Allan Poe, George Gissing, Herman Melville, Vachel Lindsay, Lafcadio Hearn, Richard Jeffries, and perhaps even Henry D. Thoreau, just to name a few names that are familiar to lovers of fine literature. The list is a long one, extending in all directions.

This talent for appreciation is a wonderful one—and it can be enlarged and happily loaned out, as well, for our appreciation may become infectious. It can ripen with the years. A little praise may be given without thought, but we never know how far its influence may spread. What a talent this is, to be constantly developed. The poorest may have it, and that is what makes them actually rich.

It is said that people die of broken hearts, but I believe that it is for lack of appreciation and love. Note how happy that one who is greatly appreciated. And so long as he is appreciated, he does his best work. In 1923, I think it was, Edith Somers Kelley had published her first and only book, called "Weeds." Outstanding critics praised it, but few bought it, yet Paul Jordan Smith, the able and appreciative critic for the Los Angeles Times, wrote in his book "Of the Love of Books," that it was one of the greatest books written by an American! I prize my copy, inscribed to me by the author.

You may have few of the talents bequeathed to many, but if you have a talent for appreciation—and keep perfecting it, you will both live and die a superior human being!

by FREDERICK C. RUSSELL
Member S. & E.

Experience demonstrates that the safest way to show up best on the highway is to show off the least.

Too Much Braking
Stop braking suddenly!
That is the warning to every motorist who would safeguard himself by maintaining the security of his car's braking system.

So capable is the automobile in its ability to stop that most drivers feel they still have a great reserve of braking power to bank on even if they waste it. This is a dangerous delusion. Experience demonstrates that unwise use of the brakes soon depletes the reserve. Sudden stopping is wasteful in terms of gas and tires, not to mention the universal joints which are always shocked. Believe it or not, much overheating is due to sudden stopping, coolant being forced forward and out the overflow. But the most serious consequence of sudden stopping is warpage of the brake drums. Moreover, there is the chance that one of the brake pistons will be jammed.

Useful In Testing
How to test for a short circuit is simplicity itself. Just use the battery. To do this make sure that all of the car's electrical equipment is switched off and that the battery ground strap is connected. Now take the other terminal, disconnect it and then tap it against the battery post to which it would ordinarily be attached. If there is sparking you will know that there is a short circuit in the electrical system, and that current is flowing when no such flow should exist. Before testing, of course, make sure that the fuses are not burned out.

It's well enough to clean parts of the clutch in degreasing solutions, but don't let this include the clutch throwout bearing which may be self-lubricated. The cleansing agent would tend to destroy the lubricating feature.

Odd noises usually indicate odd conditions. So use your imagination when trouble dogs your heels. In one case it was found that a belt oil filler tube was striking the steering or flexible mountings.

Sometimes poor gas mileage with older motors is due to carbon in the intake manifold from excessive backfiring. The effect of this is to cause hot spots which overheat the incoming mixture.

Mechanic Joe Speaking:
"It's odd how often car owners will allow themselves to be hoodwinked by certain defective parts of the car when it would be so simple to cut these parts by way of proving their failure. I have in mind the solenoid of a starting circuit. This is the electrical plunger device which moves the starting pinion as the starting motor goes into action. If there is any suspicion that this part may not be up to par the trick is merely to connect a heavy cable across the terminals of the solenoid. If the starter then goes into action, the solenoid is the bad actor and should be replaced."

Breaking The Rule
It's one thing to know a rule of car care and another to know enough not to do certain things that have the same effect as violating this rule. A perfect example is the business of lubricating the speedometer cable. Most motorists who have had some experience with cars know enough not to lubricate the cable throughout its entire length for this would lead to possible leakage of lubricant into the speedometer head. But they either put too much lubricant on the cable or use the wrong kind. The result is the same as greasing the cable's entire length.

When on the trail of possible causes of cooling system trouble always consider the lower water hose from the radiator to the water pump. I do not suggest water leakage here, but air leakage. At higher speeds the water pump does quite an effective sucking act, and unless the hose is tight, air will be drawn in. This may cause foaming and expansion of the coolant. Then there is loss of coolant out the overflow, and the merry business is on. This air in the system will also accelerate rusting.

Warns Of Trouble

One way to tell if the front tires are wearing cupped is to note how the car feels through the steering wheel rim when turning a sharp corner. There should be a feeling of bumpiness if the tires are worn along the edges of their treads.

If carburetor jets are loose and leaking the engine will be difficult to get started after it has been standing for a day or so, yet easy enough to start after a shorter period of rest no matter how cold the weather.

Either the rear springs are weak or the front-end caster needs changing if the car steers too easily and shows a tendency to wander when there are passengers on the rear seat.

Toward Fan Efficiency

Whether the fan is operating as it should is not merely a matter of glancing at it while the motor is idling. Have someone speed up the engine and note if the fan lags. Possibly it is slipping at fan fans because its bearing is defective or badly in need of lube. It is possible to tighten a fan so that the belt will pull down on it enough to crack the bearing.

Watch yourself when that fan is whirling around. Some of the older cars had a shroud over the fan. And then there were the fans with a ring around to connect the blades. Today's fan is a real danger.

Something To Know

Some motorists appear to think that for air leakage to develop around the intake, the manifold nuts must be loose enough to fall off. This, however, is far from the truth. In one case a one-half turn of a manifold nut was sufficient to check poor idling and a persistent tendency for the motor to stall. It is a good idea to do a little checking now and again, especially with modern engines that shake so much because of their flexible mountings.

Because it's too simple most motorists who find the engine failing for want of gas usually overlook the possibility of a clogged gasoline filter. The poor fuel pump always is suspected even if shaking the rear end of the car would prove that the tank is empty.

Incidentally, many nuts and studs are broken through failure to apply penetrating oils before the work is done. Also in tightening it is well to use a torque wrench to avoid too error.

What's On Your Mind?

Q. The ammeter of my car shows no charging rate even if I speed up the motor. I am not going to use the car again until I hear from you as to what this means.—H. K.

A. You will find that the cut-out points for the generator do not close when generator speed increases beyond that for an idling motor when current is drawn from the battery.

Q. Does the hand brake of my car require any service other than having it adjusted to compensate for wear?—G. B. N.

A. Since it is exposed you should keep it clean. Also oil its pins and exposed connections.

Q. What is the measure of coefficient of friction in relation to brake lining?—H. C. M.

A. Here we go getting technical again. It is the ratio between the pull required to move the brake drum surface over the brake shoe lining and the pressure holding the surfaces together.

Q. Haven't been able to start the engine of my car for a week, although I have tried just about every trick in the book. I think you will have to go way off the beaten track to solve this one for me, but I'd appreciate any effort along these lines?—Wm. L. L.

A. How about a shorted condenser in the distributor?

Q. When should a check be made on the amount of lube in the rear axle housing? One of my friends says this should be done only when the rear end is cold.—H. N. F.

A. Friends are people you like even though they may disappoint you. Actually, the lube level should be checked only when the rear end has been in operation and the lube is warmed up. When the gears are cold lube tends to cling to them and fool you as to the exact level.

Q. Do you advise using special cleaners to make a real job of cleaning the motor block and radiator core? There is no tendency toward overheating. I just want to prevent trouble.—H. G. F.

A. In that case use rust inhibitor. Sediment and scale often form a natural seal against small leaks in the cooling system. Too often a "preventive" flushing brings on serious leakage. Let a good mechanic decide what should be done in cases like this.

Q. There's a most disturbing miss in the engine of my car. We have tried most of the usual things like sticky valves, bad plugs and faulty carburetion. Have even made a compression test which shows up favorably.—R. F. D.

A. Look to see if the high tension wires are snug in the distributor

PM'S UNDER CIVIL SERVICE

Washington, D. C., Aug. 19.—Harry B. Mitchell, chairman of the United States Civil Service Commission, has called to the attention of the American public the fact that postmasters are permanent officers under the Civil Service system and entitled to all its rights and privileges.

Chairman Mitchell's statement was issued as a part of a nationwide campaign launched by the National Association of Postmasters to educate the public on the status of postmasters under Civil Service. Too many people, the Association said, believe that postmasters are temporary political appointees and it is resulting in an "incorrect attitude" toward the postal service.

In a statement, Chairman Mitchell announced: "Every postmaster not only has to qualify for appointment through an examination given by the Civil Service commission but he must be among the three top eligibles. Like other Federal workers, the postmaster serves without limitation on his term, subject only to the same competent handling of his office as required by all personnel."

"The country benefited when postmasters were placed under competitive civil service. The postmaster and his employees are the most important daily contact a citizen has with his government. I am glad to know that the National Association of Postmasters is launching a campaign to inform the American public as to the real facts. The United States Civil Service commission is particularly gratified at the manner

cap. Mr. Russell will answer questions regarding the safe care and operation of your car. Just address him at 254 Fern street, West Hartford 7, Conn., and enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope for a personal reply. There is no charge.

in which postmasters are performing their duties." have joined in approval of the program. The association has established a national committee to conduct the campaign with Postmaster Fergus McRee, Richmond, Va., as chairman. Scientists say much of the vast areas in Utah covered by sagebrush man. Top officials in government could be reseeded to grass.

TRUMAN APPEAL REACTION MIXED

Washington, Aug. 19 (P)—President Truman's appeal for anti-inflation controls without "special privilege" concessions or power-whittling restrictions touched off mixed reaction in Congress today.

Senator Maybank (D-S.C.) predicted there will be "no real special privilege amendments" favoring any industry or commodity in the home front mobilization bill Congress finally enacts.

But Maybank, floor manager of the Senate bill, said he will make no move himself to meet Mr. Truman's renewed plea for authority to curb commodity speculation.

Senator Flanders (R-Vt.) denounced special privilege amendments as strongly as Mr. Truman did in a letter he sent late yesterday to Vice President Barkley, presiding officer of the Senate. "There is just no room or rightful place for them in this bill," Flanders declared.

Senator Fulbright (D-Ark.) said, however, that the administration will have only itself to blame if any special treatment amendments wind up in the economic controls bill. The Senate will vote on the measure Monday.

"A good many of us don't have confidence that the administration will handle this program the way Congress wants it handled unless we spell it all out in great detail," Fulbright told a reporter.

Atlantic City, N. J., Aug. 19 (P)—Bullets—apparently from a high-flying plane on a target practice—peppered a five block area and injured a man here Thursday.

Fireman John Villani, Jr., was hit in the neck by a flying fragment and treated by the first aid squad of his fire company. Five houses over a wide area were hit by steel-jacketed .50-caliber machine gun bullets.
